THOUGHT and COMMENT

CONGRESS WILL TACKLE MANY BIG PROBLEMS

Do you know what your congress contemplates doing when it opens December 7?

Well we didn't either. Study the following and you'll get a good idea of what is occupying the national mind at the present time.

Congress is expected to take swift action on two major problems—tax reduction and legislation to meet the coal emergency.

The Coolidge administration will throw its full strength behind these measures to insure their early enactment for the President is said to feel that both are of paramount importance.

The Revenue Legislation now embodied in a non-partisan measure drafted by the Ways and Means committee will be rushed through the house before Christmas, according to leaders of both parties.

The President regards legislation to meet the coal emergency as no less vital than stock revision to the nation. With coal stocks dwindling and prices soaring, the President wishes to have full authority to act if a crisis comes.

Recommendation of the coal commission to meet such emergencies were sent to the last Congress by the President, but no action was taken. The administration measure undoubtedly will be based on the suggestions outlined in that report.

While a vigorous fight will be made in the Senate to rewrite the house tax bill, federal taxpayers are fully assured of a cut all along the line, all party leaders agree.

Secretary Mellon's demand for a cut from 40 to 30 percent as the maximum surtaxes paid on large incomes, is certain of enactment.

There is every reason to believe that the committee's program for reducing the rates on moderate incomes will eventually become law. The plan will relieve 1,000,000 taxpayers of a federal levy.

Beginning at 1 1/2 percent on taxable incomes of $4,000, the normal rate increases to 3 percent on the next $4,000 and 5 percent thereafter.

For the first time in a century the Republicans and Democrats in the House are a unit on a revenue measure and by presenting a solid front the leaders of both parties expect to restore the prestige of the lower body as the revenue raising branch of Congress and force the Senate to accept their bill or take the responsibility for defeating tax reduction.

While these two measures are being disposed of on the floors of Congress, a host of other important problems will be crowding for attention.

The deplorable condition of America's air defense, which has stirred the nation since the revelations made by Col. William Mitchell, will be given a thorough airing, when the army and navy appropriation bills are considered in both Houses.

The shipping board, a thorn in the side of the administration for the last year, is due for a raking fore and aft. The President is expected to recommend the abolition of the present board and the establishment of an agency that is directly responsible to the executive.

Railroad consolidation will be pressed. Farm relief legislation will again come to the fore. The form both these measures will take is still to be determined.

Congress must once more wrestle with the problem of disposing of Muscle Shoals. The President's commission appointed to investigate the problem and recommend the best solution in the public interest is said to be split on the question and the whole fight is likely to be opened, again.

The greatest fight over foreign affairs, rivaling the battle over the League of Nations, will be staged in the Senate over

DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

C.K. Nelson San Francisco Contractor was Driving Car
Which Struck Child

Injuries resulting in her death were sustained at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by little Mary Teisera, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Teisera of San Pablo, when she was struck and run over by a touring car driven by C. K. Nelson, general contractor, residing at 3080 Washington street, San Francisco. The accident occurred on Alvarado street, between the San Pablo creek bridge and Church lane.

The child was put in Nelson's machine and rushed to a local hospital in an unconscious condition. She died about an hour after the accident.

Dr. Deisinger Keser was the attending physician.

According to a report made to Constable M. G. Moltoza, of San Pablo, who followed the car into Richmond, Nelson, accompanied by A. W. Cornelius, 625 Market street, San Francisco, were returning from Martinez where they had attended to some business.

They were driving on Alvarado street at a rate of about 15 miles per hour, Nelson said when the girl rushed across the street in front of the machine in an effort to retrieve a ball. Nelson declared that he threw on the brakes, blew the horn and swerved entirely off the paved highway and into the shallow ditch at the side but too late to avoid striking the child. The automobile stopped within two car lengths, police reports say, but the girl was run over and crushed by the heavy machine.

Following the child's death Moltoza took Nelson back to San Pablo where he appeared before Justice of the Peace L. F. Grover, of that city. Grover later released the contractor on his own recognizance. Moltoza intimated that the case was an accident and probably no charge will be lodged against the driver of the automobile.

The remains are at the Curry undertaking parlors. No date for the funeral has yet been fixed.

Petitions Ask to Make Macdonald & 23rd Boulevards

With the completion of the paving of Macdonald avenue from Twenty third street to San Pablo avenue near at hand, when the street will be open for traffic, a tremendous increase in travel is anticipated.

In order to do away with the possibility of accidents at the corner of 23rd and Macdonald, petitions have been placed in circulation, and are being generally signed, asking the council to make 23rd street and Macdonald avenue "boulevards" and install the necessary signs at the corner.

By the adoption of such a rule, all motorists either on 23rd or Macdonald, when they reach the intersection, will have to come to a dead stop, before crossing.

The boulevard rule, being generally adopted in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, and not only decreases the danger of accidents, but speeds up traffic on the main highways.

"Death Ray" Inventor Turns Light Into Music, Plays Harmonies On New Invention, the Luminaphone

Harry Grindell-Matthews, English inventor of the "death ray," turned long enough recently from plans of annihilating armies, blowing up battleships and sending airplanes crashing from the skies, to demonstrate in New York his new invention, the luminaphone. A key board of 37 notes on the luminaphone releases light rays from projectors. These rays pass through perforations in revolving disks, and in their interrupted form strike selenium plates, setting up vibrations, which are amplified as on a radio. The instrument is played like a pipe organ and produces a harmony of tones no less pleasing. Matthews said he had abandoned the "death ray" until he could find capital to develop it.

INNOCENT MAN WAS SHOT IN FAMOUS FEUD

(By Universal Service)

VISALIA, Nov. 18.—An innocent bystander who unsuspectingly walked into the now famous Harding-McAllister feud and was shot yesterday by Jim McAllister, has an even chance for recovery, it was revealed today by Sheriff R. L. Hill. The victim of McAllister's bullet was not "one of the Davis boys" as the mountaineer had reported, when he surrendered to the sheriff, after the shooting, but was Frank Gifford, a young rancher who has not hitherto been involved in the feud.

Jim McAllister is still in the county jail, where he was imprisoned after he had calmly informed Sheriff Hill that he had "picked off one of the Davis boys."

The estate is for $570 in cash and 1,000 shares in the Pacific Cellulose Company. Three children of the couple will share in the estate.

U. C. STUDENTS FEEL WRATH OF COLLEGE HEAD

BERKELEY, Nov. 18.—The University of California student body is tense with excitement as a result of a statement by President W. W. Campbell announcing the expulsion of Leon Elliott, gold senior student and prominent in student affairs for alleged opposition to compulsory military training.

It is the third drastic action by the president with a week. The first was the suppression of the "Occident" a student magazine for publishing an article which he held irreverent. The second was ordering the Stanford-California women debate cancelled because he thought the subject "That the family is an unnecessary element in the progress of civilization" was improper to be discussed by students.

Accusation is made that Judge Ritchie "has stated from the bench, that it is not a moral offense to violate the provisions of the National prohibition act or the liquor laws of Alaska."

NEW SENSATION IS SPRUNG IN AIRSHIP QUIZ

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A new sensation rocked the Shenandoah inquiry today, when Dr. William Mason, prominent Washington physician and uncle of Mrs. Ross Landdowne, charged that Secretary of Navy Wilbur was behind what he believed to be an effort to coerce the widow of the commander of the ill-fated airship to modify the testimony she was to give before the naval court.

Dr. Mason admitted his charge was based on an impression based on a chain of events, but refused to retract or modify his accusations after rigid examination.

THE POSTMEN'S CHRISTMAS

The first Christmas present for 1925 has already been delivered. It was made in the form of an announcement from Postmaster General New to all mail carriers in the United States, and it was the information that, from midnight December 24 to midnight, December 25, all postal operations will be suspended except the maintenance of special delivery and the "relaying of mails so that they will be ready when normal delivery is resumed."

This is not as complete a holiday as most of the recipients of mailed Christmas present will have, but it is better than nothing.

One thing will improve it a little. That is general and widespread support of the "mail early" movement. December 1 is not too early to begin mailing gifts to your friends and relatives in other cities. Nearly everybody has a cupboard or closet self where early arrivals in the gift line may be concealed until the big day. A neat notice on every package can indicate that the object within is a gift not to be looked at until Christmas Day.

If the annual "rush" can be spread out over the whole month, perhaps dwindling a little toward the fourth week in December, those mail carriers may be able to enjoy their holiday a little. But if the rush is concentrated on Christmas week many of them may have to spend the day in bed.

DRIFTING

A Canadian observer, correspondent of the Toronto Globe, who recently resumed his post at Washington after four years' absence, writes his paper as follows:

"Returning to Washington after a prolonged visit to Canada, I find still unsettled nearly all of the great problems I found awaiting solution when I first came here. There is less unemployment than in 1921, and the agricultural situation is less acute, but the railway question, the shipping problem, freight rates and inland waterway development, foreign relations and national defense are as much questions of unsettled policy as they were four years ago."

Now that we stop to think of it, this really does size up the situation, doesn't it? And who's to blame? Congress, of course. But also the public.

Almost any typical group of citizens, questioned, would show that they, too, have no settled policy on these important matters. Perhaps it isn't possible yet to have a settled policy concerning them. But every citizen ought at least to be giving them serious, thoughtful study and consideration.

QUADRUPLE AUTO TAXES

The proposed cut in federal automobile taxes serves as another reminder of the heavy taxation to which motor cars are now subject.

Nearly everywhere, as a zealous county auditor reminds the public, they are taxed four times, in four different ways. There is the federal tax of 5 per cent, levied in the sale of new cars, which Congress now plans to reduce to 3 per cent. There is the personal property tax, which nearly all of the states still enforce. There is the automobile license fee, which amounts to a tax. And there is the gasoline tax, imposed on the car through nominally levied on its fuel.

Local movements are under way in some of the states, sponsored partly by automobile clubs and tax experts, to have all these taxes reduced to one.

Such a simplification could be effected by state

Seeking Romance in Ye Olde World Province of Quebec

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD AT QUEBEC

Baroness Orczy, the creator of one of the world's most romantic figures, "The Scarlet Pimpernel," landed at Quebec recently on the "Montclair," and spent some time in that quaint old world province studying French Canadian life. Another novel, this time a blending of the romance of old France with the romance which she feels is clinging to modern days in Quebec, is likely to be the outcome of this visit. "To Quebec Baroness Orczy will again return after touring Canada with her husband, M. G. Barstow, watercolor artist, visiting Banff, Lake Louise, Glacier and Victoria.

Other writers of international fame have sought for romance in the province of Quebec, and have not sought in vain. Gilbert Parker set the pace in the earliest days. James Oliver Curwood has aroused the enthusiasm of adventurous spirits by his tales of life in Canada's great west, and judging by his praise for the city of Quebec and its rural environs when he, too, landed there not long ago from the Empire of Scotland, it is not to be wondered at that his latest tales are set amidst Quebec's battlements. "The Black Hunter" is a story of the early days of 1760, when dusky Indians played havoc with the French settlers; while life in the city was regulated by the marvellously arrayed French gentlemen who were sent out from old France to govern her young colony. "The Ancient Highway" is another out-of-door romance, centering around Quebec, in which Curwood has woven a pattern of vivid intrigue where virtue is victorious, vice is punished, nature plays a strong part and racial antipathy is still stronger.

Marjorie Pickthall, Canada's much loved poet and short story writer, chose French Canadian life for one of her most pathetic poems, "The Woodcutter's Wife."

Her volume of short stories, "Angel Shoes," has been hailed as one of the best selections of short tales ever published. "Marie Chapdelaine" received a generous measure of praise as one of the best novels of the year. Clarence Budington Kelland and Frank Packard have both written best-sellers in the Province of Quebec. This summer Edwin Balmer has been spending in Quebec gathering material for a romance. Quebec is indeed the land of romance, the land where the legends of the old military days, when two nations struggled for supremacy, color the sometimes prosaic days of the present. It is a land where the fertile imagination may produce a beautiful harvest of ideas which, feeding upon the native soil, may bring about the year's most successful poem, win a Pulitzer prize, or startle the world with a best-seller breathing romance.

Quick and Palatable Lunches for School Children

SCHOOL nurses find that many children from excellent homes are undernourished. Investigation proves that they are too hurried to eat properly. The problem of the mother is how to make the most of the lunch hour for the children. First, she should choose those nourishing dishes that are easily prepared so that the meal will be on time. The loss of a few minutes matters less than the impatience of the child, which makes him unable to digest food well.

Second, the meal should be served simply, preferably in one course, and not many dishes, so there will be little distraction or lost motion. In achieving punctuality, canned foods are the mother's best friend. They are certain to be well done. As the rough work has already been done, more time can be put on making the dish palatable and attractive, served—an important point, and the mother can greet the child untroubled and unhurried.

Suggested vegetable dishes are: stewed tomatoes, seasoned with butter and served on toast, or on buttered bread; canned spinach, canned stringless beans, canned sauerkraut. These vegetables are excellent for children because of their vitamins and the iron in the green vegetables. Children like spinach if it is served in a variety of attractive ways. Almost any cook-book lists several, and the person buying sauerkraut already cleaned and cooked has surely time to chop, cream and arrange it prettily garnished or combine it with cheese for timbales. Cheese is a protein food and is unusually rich in lime and phosphorus, hence very good for children. Tinned varieties can be kept on hand without waste. Spaghetti and Boston brown bread both come in cans and make substantial lunches. Fresh milk, hot chocolate malted milk are excellent drinks, and canned soups can be kept on hand and quickly prepared for appetizers and for nourishment.

action, as far as the three state taxes are concerned.

The federal tax might still make trouble. But Congress may solve that problem. There will be an effort made to abolish it altogether when the new federal tax measure is taken up in December.

This must be said for Italy, anyway. It has a genius for political drama.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore, finding herself on a yacht in Long Island Sound after midnight, attempted to leap overboard, but was restrained by one Pooch, a stranger. Then McTish, the skipper, tells Pooch for annoying her. In the bow of the boat Connemara is amazed to find young David Lacy, with whom she had driven from Aunt Celina's Connecticut home. He had been spilled in an automobile accident and is now in the company of two mysterious characters, "Doc" and "Sweetie."

"Shut up, Doc, you're all wet!" called the lady weakly, sitting up on the deck. This was a true statement, however she meant it. "Are you all right, Sweetie?" asked the big fellow anxiously. "K. O.," responded the girl tersely. "Where's the guy we had with us?"

"I hope he's drowned!" was the unfeeling answer. "The Big stiff—he was a Jonah! Hey, who's in charge of this tub?" he added to McTish. McTish turned to look at Lacy, who, rope in hand, was in controversy with Mr. Pooch. "Stick out your arms like a nice little boy," suggested Lacy. "I'm going to tie you up in a neat little package and ship you somewhere where you'll be more appreciated!"

Mr. Pooch slowly arose to his feet. He surveyed the slighter man contemptuously and then his roving eyes took in the little group in the bow who were watching the tableau with various emotions. As his glance fell on Connemara, his eyes brightened. Mr. Pooch had a one-track mind.

"THE WINDING STAIR" AT THE LOCAL THEATER

Even the phlegmatic Moor and the stoical Arab like their "night life" now and then—and repair to a nearby city to visit one of the cafes. There they sit placidly around at the tables, smoke their long-stemmed pipes and watch the dancing girls kick up their heels. Then they pay their bill, nod approvingly at the girls and "silently steal away" to desert or hill.

This phase of life in Morocco is revealed in some of the colorful scenes in "The Winding Stair" the John Griffith Wray production based on the A. E. W. Mason novel, now at the Richmond theatre. The locale of the story is Casablanca, chief seaport of Morocco.

In some of the cafe scenes, Alma Rubens figures as the American dancer who falls in love with the hero, a young officer of the French Foreign Legion, played by Edmund Lowe. It is this romance, having its inception in the sordid surroundings of the Cafe Iris, that forms the theme of the plot of this William Fox picture.

Director Wray lost no opportunity to take advantage of the exotic settings and costumes of Moorish life. Besides Lowe and Miss Rubens, the all-star cast includes Mahlon Hamilton, Warner Oland, Chester Conklin, Emily Fitzroy and June Thomas.

Other features on the same program include "The Movies," a Lloyd Hamilton comedy; "Prizma" the screen magazine.

Building Fund For St. Mary's Making Progress

With Archbishop Edward J. Hanna as honorary general chairman, and Thomas J. Lennon of the Supreme Court bench as leader of the Alumni group, the organization of the St. Mary's building fund campaign is progressing rapidly toward the point where workers can take the field in solicitation of funds, it was announced yesterday in Oakland.

Archbishop Hanna has just returned from Rome and has given his unqualified support to the proposal to raise $1,500,000 in California to build a new set of buildings for St. Mary's college on a new site on the Foothill Boulevard of Oakland. Justice Lennon, who is president of the Alumni Association, has agreed to shoulder much of the responsibility of securing the funds.

Oliver Kehrlein of Oakland is general chairman of the east bay committee and his organization is made up of leading men from all the east bay cities. On the general committee are C. A. Beardsley, L. H. Bill, Senator A. H. Breed, Everett J. Brown, A. J. Caire, Congressman Albert E. Carter, Joseph F. Carlston, William Cavaller, Walter A. Chown, A. De Mello, William H. Donahue, John J. Donovan, J. Cal Ewing Robert M. Fitzgerald, W. W. Garthwaite, Dr. O. D. Hamilton, John F. Hassler, Roy R. Henderson, Joseph A. Kennedy, Louis J. Kennedy, W. T. Knightly, Joseph Knowland, A. S. Lavenston, E. C. Lyon, H. A. Reed, Joseph J. Rosborough, Judge E. J. Silver, W. E. Strel, Sherwood B. Swan, E. M. Tilden, John H. Tolan and Charles Summers Young.

The central committee is headed by Harry A. Mosher. It is still incomplete, but now has the names of R. C. Bitterman, William J. Hayes, S. J. Donahue, P. N. Hanrahan, Thomas P. Hogan, Sr., W. J. Kieferdorf, Harvey Lyon, J. J. McElroy, John F. Mullins, Alex J. Rosborough, Dr. John F. Elavich, George F. Shortt, W. E. Swallow, James Traverse and F. H. Wainwright.

The Oakland campaign is to open December 3 to raise the east bay quota of the $1,500,000 fund. The campaign will be carried on simultaneously in all the east bay cities: from Martinez to San Leandro and Hayward, and each city will have a strong organization of its own functioning through the main group in Oakland.

The Society of Holy Names under the leadership of Walter A. Chown, will meet Sunday morning for a communion breakfast at St. Leander's church in San Leandro to map details of the parish organization of which Chown is chairman.

BRIEF FACTS ABOUT MARY'S NEW PICTURE

Mary Pickford, foremost screen artiste, in her new screen feature, "Little Annie Rooney" a United Corporation release coming next Monday and Tuesday to the California theatre, has stepped out of the costume drama role and back into the ragamuffin, hoydenish, comedy characterization that so endeared her to the public and won her the title "The World's Sweetheart."

The scenes of "Little Annie Rooney" for the most part are laid in the teeming lower East Side district of New York City, and the famous old Brooklyn Bridge has an important role.

Little Annie Rooney is the twelve year old daughter of a New York policeman; leads a band of street urchins in fiercely contended, rough and tumble, biting and kicking battles with rival gangs; and is secretly and madly in love with a strapping truck driver, the pal of her big brother, Tim Rooney.

Her garb consists of cheap calicoes, much-darned stockings, down-at-the-heel shoes, and, sometimes, a boy's cap.

Ten different nationalities and races are represented among the kid types in the two score or so youngsters figuring in the picture. There also are many animals—dogs and cats, a goat, a pig and a couple of horses.

Lower East Side New York streets and districts faithfully are reproduced in the picture. There are streets and arcways littered with old tin cans and all sorts of rubbish. Almost all of the picture was made at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio, Hollywood.

The directors are Philip R. Jones, Clifford C. Anglin, I. E. Santure, J. M. Anglin and Homer Patterson.

"Her Sister From Paris" Pleasing At California

Where is your husband tonight? Unless he's sitting quietly by the family fireside you ought to know!

There's a new and amusing way to discover exactly what your husband's doing, and Constance Talmadge reveals it in "Her Sister From Paris," her new starring comedy-drama of domestic life, which opened yesterday at the California theatre.

The opening scenes of the story reveal Constance as a patient, meek and loving little wife whose spouse is an author of charming stories. But she insists on feeding him doughnuts when he's thinking of moonlight and roses and love-ly romance, and so they have a family tiff.

But Constance never gives up. She disguises herself as her madcap sister from Paris, reputed to be a charmer of hearts. In this guise she lures her husband away from the family fireside and persuades him to elope with her. The rest of the story reveals a new method of winning a husband's love.

"Her Sister From Paris" is an original story by Hans Kralay, who wrote many of the Lubitch successes. Ronald Colman and George K. Arthur share the male honors. Sidney Franklin directed.

Other features on the same program include "Fair But Foolish."

CAGERS READY FOR HARD WORK

Coach Ivan Hill is having his charges out every night preparing for a tough basketball season. The first game of the year will be in Richmond on December 4, when Santa Rosa high comes to battle the Richmond high five.

A number of practice games will be held by Hill's men prior to that date. The most important of these is on December 1, when they tangle with the McRacken quintet.

The locals were hit hard by the graduation last June and will lose several more good men at the next graduation, but many of the old regulars and last year's 130 pound team will be on hand. Rowdy Dyer a star forward last season will probably forsake his school this year to play in a league in the city.

DIXON IS OUT

A little more of California's chance to beat Stanford slipped yesterday when Coach Andy Smith announced that Jimmy Dixon, star and veteran fullback, would be out of the game. That will also throw out the Dixon to play pass, famous until it didn't work against Washington. Perrier, a good man but not as good as Dixon, will take the place.

HAWAIIANS ARRIVE

The University of Hawaii football squad, 21 husky young men, arrived in San Francisco yesterday enroute to Los Angeles where they will meet Occidental on Thanksgiving. This is the first trip to the mainland since 1923 when they were defeated by Pomona 14 to 7. The team has members representing four nationalities.

GRANGE MAKES TWO MILES

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Red Grange has gained two miles in yardage and made touchdowns in 19 games during the three years in which Red's jersey with his bright "77" has flashed through the line and around the ends. Grange has been unable to score only four times and three of those came this year when three colleges stopped him.

MARTINEZ FORFEITS

VALLEJO, Nov. 18.—The Martinez football team has forfeited the grid game which was scheduled for next Thursday with Vallejo high. The forfeiture is due to the fact that Martinez has a number of its best players on the injured list. Vallejo will now point its men for the winner of the game between Alameda and Berkeley High schools.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR BIG GAME

Instead of driving down in their own cars and getting caught in the traffic jam on the Peninsula highways, south of San Francisco, many local "big game" fans are planning to take advantage of the Southern Pacific special trains from both San Francisco and Oakland on Saturday morning.

Richmond alumnae of the two universities have been invited to use the Oakland special train, leaving Oakland Pier, at 11 a. m. which goes direct to the Stadium via Dumbarton Bridge and returns the same way to Oakland after the game. The Richmond passengers have been asked to take the 9:14 a. m. local train into Oakland Pier, which will land them at the Pier at 9:45, or fifteen minutes before the special train, which will undoubtedly pull out fully loaded at 11 o'clock.

A special rate of $2.50 for the round trip for Richmond passengers is quoted by Local Agent Eby of the Southern Pacific. The round trip rate from Oakland will be $2.00. Eby advises Richmond passengers for this special, not to wait until the train stops at First and Broadway, Oakland, as it may be impossible to get a seat. The Southern Pacific officials are hoping to run a second special train from Oakland, if they get cars enough.

IS A PEACOCK ashamed of HIS LEGS?

If not, why, when he looks at his legs, does he always lower his tail? Medieval nature-fakers puzzled over this and other entertaining superstitions. Today we know better, and we are fast getting away from other popular superstitions, as, for instance, that there is something mysteriously "better" about "eastern" motor oils merely because they cost more and are made in the east.

Superstitions Pass—the Facts Prove Zerolene's Superiority

As a matter of fact, there is no better motor oil than Zerolene, which is produced right here on the Pacific Coast from selected western naphthenic base crude, refined by this Company's patented high-vacuum process, and submitted to 15 positive checks for quality.

Experienced Automobile Men Disregard Oil Superstition

Experienced automobile men pay no tribute to superstition—they gauge a lubricant not by price or where it comes from—but by car performance and low maintenance costs. Zerolene is not only successfully lubricating more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made;—it is used and recommended by automobile agencies and big users of such celebrated makes as Cadillac, Chrysler, Dodge, Lincoln, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, who know that true motor oil economy is not a matter of price per quart, but what the lubricant does.

Less Carbon—More Power

Zerolene will improve the gasoline mileage, reduce carbon removal operations and lengthen the life of your car. Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name.

Get the Facts!

A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less

The instructor, Mrs. Oscar Mallard Bennett is giving the course under the direction of the University of California and a fee of six dollars is charged for ten one hour and a half lessons.

RACING DRIVER HAS PURCHASED NEW DODGE CAR

Prominent speedway pilots whose daring and skilful driving thrills thousands of automobile race fans at the important speedway races are fully aware of the risk and danger to which the sport constantly subjects them. These men, contrary to popular belief, are almost invariably careful, thoughtful, considerate drivers in the city and on the highway.

"It is only natural that a driver whose safety and life depend upon the car which he drives several hundred miles at a speed above two miles a minute," says Charles M. Courtwright, local dealer of Dodge Brothers, should devote much attention to the mechanical condition of his mount. Back of that he is interested in the ability of the axles, steering knuckles, steering connections and other vital parts to endure the severe strains set up by the terrific speeds.

"When a driver buys a car for his own use or that of his family he is, of course, interested in the strength and endurance of the chassis and in the safety of the body.

Harry Hartz, who finished second in a Miller eight cylinder car in the 250 mile Labor Day race, on the board oval at Altoona, Pennsylvania, bought a Dodge Brothers Special Business Coupe the day before the big event. When he drove this attractive new car to the track his friends began to ask him where he got it, why he bought it and what he was going to do with it after the race. Hartz explained, "I intend to drive it instead of taking the train to the rest of the speedway races here in the East and then to drive back to California." When asked why he bought the car he replied, "Because there is no doubt as to its absolute dependability—the all-steel body is safer than any wood framed body—and it has all the power and more speed than I need on the highway."

"That Hartz knows motors and motor performance and knows the importance of alloy steel in making a car safe is assured," Courtwright continued, "by the experience he secured with Fred Duesenberg as mechanic and as driver. Harry and Jimmie Murphy, in fact, took the sixteen cylinder Duesenberg to Florida and groomed and tuned it up for the establishment of the records which still stand for the kilometer and the mile and the distance up to ten miles. For the last two years Hartz has been driving Miller cars in all the prominent speedway races and has been placing consistently among the first few to finish."

Thought -- Comment

the President's recommendation for adherence to the world court.

In addition to legislative problems there will come requests for investigations in great numbers.

A thorough inquiry into the administration of the alien property custodian's office, since its inception in 1917, will overshadow all other investigations it is thought.

The recent indictment of Col. Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, on charges of defrauding the Government has focused the eyes of the capital again on the Arlington building which houses the alien property custodian's office.

The federal trade commission also will come for its share of attention from the Nation's lawmakers, it is understood.

Mrs. L. S. Moore of Crest avenue has been entertaining her parents Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Hunt-singer who are here visiting from Healdsburg. The Huntsingers are former residents of this city.
